The Murderer

Shot Dead

BY WILLIAM BELL

At Red Deer About Noon To Day.

RED DEER, November 14, 12:10, p.m.

A man answering the description of the party wanted was seen a few miles north of this place and was challenged by a man. He drew a revolver and made a desperate resistance. He was shot through the head by William Bell. The police were notified.

LATER.

A man answering the description of Ole Mickelson, except that he had a light, not a dark mustache, was shot dead just north of Red Deer to-day. He was seen at some distance north and was pursued southward. He threw off the long black overcoat, which he was wearing at the time of the murder, and drew a revolver when he was shot by his pursuer. A sum of $317 was found on the body and a pocket-book marked with the name "Ole Mickelson." The money is supposed to have belonged to the murdered man, as that is about the amount which a telegram from his son said should be in his possession. The body is held at Red Deer for the inquest, which will take place to-morrow afternoon after the arrival of the train from Edmonton, which will bring witnesses down.

TELEGRAPHIC.

WINNIPEG, November 14.

Insinger was elected in Wallace over McNutt by a substantial majority. He and Haultain were met at Yorkton railway station and escorted through the town by a torchlight procession. It is believed Cayley will resign forthwith. The Free Press says nothing is left for him but to do so.

The Edmonton brass band evidenced the progress they are making in musical matters by serenading several of the citizens on Thursday evening last. Without setting up as a musical critic the BULLETIN has no hesitation in saying that the quality of the music not only showed wonderful progress by a band which has been organized about three months, but that it would compare favorably with that of many good bands which have been organized for years.

LOCAL.

THERE is no snow on the ground; but the weather is threatening.

HON. T. M. DALY is expected to visit Edmonton by Thursday's train.

A LARGE bunch of pansies were picked in the BULLETIN garden, on Saturday last, November 12th.

THE Revelstoke Star publishes a contradiction of the report of there being four feet of snow at Edmonton, on the authority of Rev. D. G. McQueen.

THE case against John Longmore for assault upon John Norris, jr., has been withdrawn at the request of the plaintiff, who pays the costs. Mr. Norris has almost recovered.

J. F. ADAMSON secured 70 signatures to the petition for a bridge across the Saskatchewan at Edmonton, in the Clover Bar and Fort Saskatchewan settlements, last week.

BEFORE J. A. McDougall, J. P., on Friday, Jos. W. Kelly was charged by John Cameron, merchant, with taking an overcoat unlawfully and with intent to defraud. Judgment was reserved until Saturday when accused was committed for trial. Bail was accepted to the amount of $200. N. D. Beck for plaintiff; S. S. Taylor for defendant.

TOWN COUNCIL.

FRIDAY, November 9.

Present: Mayor McCauley and councillors Strang, Cameron, Goodridge and Daly.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A. Lucas, mayor of Calgary, inviting council to attend banquet to Hon. T. M. Daly.

W. Brunelle, proposition for water tank.

Cameron—Strang—That $30 be voted the mayor to pay his expenses to Calgary to meet Hon. T. M. Daly, minister of interior.

The finance committee recommended payment of the following accounts: Edmonton Cartage Co., sundry accounts, $27.08; Ed. Looby, board of works and fire, water and light, $36.80.

Strang—Daly. That the communication from W. Brunelle be laid on the table until next meeting.

Strang—Cameron. That the report of the fire, water and light committee be adopted.

The health committee recommended that certain rubbish in the street south east of Mr. Cowie's dwelling be removed and that inspector Campbell be instructed to see that the work is satisfactorily done.

Cameron—Goodridge. That the report of the health and relief committee be adopted.

By-laws Nos. 34, 35 and 36 were read a first time.

Council adjourned.

Prince Albert Saskatchewan Times: "The board of education for the Territories met at Regina last week, and, as usual, did some half way work. A peculiar feature of this august body was the hole and corner way in which they did their business. Reporters were excluded from their meetings, and forsooth. Why? Were they ashamed of their labors? They might justly be ashamed of the acts of their forefathers in the education system in vogue in the Territories. Our school system, to-day, is worse than it was in its infancy, over six years ago. It has been run by a number of fossils, men who had smattering enough of school work to think they knew everything about an ideal school system." Considering that the Times supports the men whose chief idea is to maintain this peculiar state of affairs its criticism is decidedly pointed.

Sunday, November 6th, was a winter day in Winnipeg. Snow and sleet fell and it was with difficulty that trains were kept moving. It may interest Manitobans to know that at Edmonton the day was warm and fine. About an inch of snow fell on Saturday night, which had all disappeared on Thursday last.

Thos. Swanston, an old resident of Prince Albert, died at his residence there, on Tuesday, November 1st.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, NOVEMBER 14, 1892

MURDER And Robbery,

In Broad Day Light, On The Public Trail,
About Half a Mile From The Railway Station.

On Friday morning, about 9:30, as two Norwegians named Conrad Diethelm and B. Ficker, who had arrived on Thursday night's train, were walking from the railway station in South Edmonton towards the lower ferry landing to come to town, when about half way between the station and the brow of the hill, they saw a man lying unconscious in the trail, on his back, with blood on his face. As something was evidently wrong, they ran back to the station and informed corporal Flynn, of the police, who came out and removed the man to the immigrant shed. Although alive he was beyond human aid, and remained unconscious until his death, which occurred about 1 p.m. An inquest was at once held by Dr. Wilson, coroner, and a post mortem examination made by Drs. McInnis and Braithwaite. A jury of six was empanelled, Robert Ritchie, foreman. The post mortem showed that the deceased had been felled by a blow with some hard instrument which struck him at the base of the skull on the back of the head, making a depression a little over an inch in diameter, in which the bone had been smashed into small fragments and pressed upon the brain. He then had fallen upon his face, and as he was lying a pistol shot had been fired at his head, the bullet entering about the middle of the top of the skull and coming out at the right eye. These were the only marks of injury on the body, and either was sufficient to cause death. The body was that of a healthy, well developed man about 5 feet 10 inches high, weighing about 180 pounds, probably 50 years of age. The head was slightly bald and the face had a reddish brown whisker about two inches in length. There were no marks upon the body by which it could be identified. From the condition of the hands the deceased had not worked hard for some time, if ever. The pockets of the clothing had been turned out and nothing was left in them but a bunch of keys and an envelope addressed P. O. Skaalent, the same name under which deceased had registered at the Edmonton Hotel the night before. One of the keys fitted the valise which he had left. The valise was opened and contained good clothing, but nothing that would throw any further light on the cause of the murder. The deceased wore a fur coat of coon skin, with black cuffs, dark coat, vest and trousers, dark imitation fur cap with peak, and coarse boots fastening with two buckles. The jury brought in a verdict of wilful murder against some person or persons unknown.

His companions on the train, on Thursday, noticed that he had a travelling companion who registered at the hotel as Ole Micklson, who occupied the same seat with deceased on the car and the same room at the hotel. This man had nothing to say to his fellow travellers, being either asleep, or pretending to be most of the time. He was a young man, about 25 years of age, five feet six inches high, slight built, with shaven face, a small dark mustache, and his nose was slightly hooked. He was dressed in dark clothing. Deceased told one of his fellow travellers that this man, his companion, was a Swede. On Friday morning deceased and Micklson took breakfast together, and another fellow traveller named Sanders saw them walking together past the hotel about nine o'clock in the forenoon. This was the last time deceased was seen before he was found lying on the trail. A man answering to the description given of Micklson was seen shortly after nine o'clock, by John Longmore, dashing through the willow brush from the direction of where the body was found. Longmore was on his way to town and passed within a short distance of the body without seeing it. After arriving in town he heard of the murder and mentioned having seen the man. He took Sergeant Dunning, of the police, to the place where he had been seen and pointed out his tracks in the light snow, which lay amongst the bushes. The tracks, followed back, led to where the body had been found. Turning the other way they were followed distinctly through the bushes, but were lost on reaching open ground where there was no snow. From the length of the steps the man had evidently been running at a high speed. He had rubbers or overshoes on his feet, as shown by the tracks in the snow. This evidence pointed so strongly to Micklson being the murderer, that the police were at once started after him, and on Saturday morning a reward of $200 was offered by Superintendent Griesbach for information that would lead to his arrest. Inspector Piercy telegraphed to Crookston, Minnesota, informing the police there of the murder and asking about the deceased and his supposed murderer. The body of the murdered man was held from burial until a reply can be received. In the meantime every effort is being made to secure the arrest of Micklson.

A telegram was received this morning from the son of the murdered man to the effect that he would come to Edmonton, and asking that the corpse be not interred until his arrival.

A man exactly answering the description of the murderer was seen passing Leduc station on Friday evening, so that he has probably gone south.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

At a regular weekly meeting of the Young People's Society of Christain Endeavor of the Presbyterian church on the evening of Thanksgiving Day the members of the society took advantage of the opportunity for the purpose of presenting their pastor with a fine goat robe, accompanied with the following address, to which a suitable reply was made by the recipient of the Thanksgiving offering.

ADDRESS.

EDMONTON, November 10th, 1892.

To REV. D. G. McQUEEN,

DEAR PASTOR:—As six months have now passed since the organization of The Young People's Society of Christain Endeavor in Edmonton, and as this is a season of Thanksgiving, we feel that we cannot allow this opportunity to pass without showing in some way our appreciation of your labor amongst us. Allow me to present you with this goat robe on behalf of the society, and sincerely hope that you may be spared to share in the good work which we have so lately begun.

Signed on behalf of the Society,

J. J. McINTYRE, President.

PETITION.

TO THE HONORABLE THE MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR, OTTAWA.

The petition of the undersigned residents of the district of Alberta in the vicinity of Edmonton.

HUMBLY SHEWETH,

That the Calgary & Edmonton railway terminates on the south bank of the Saskatchewan river, a stream about 600 feet wide, directly opposite the town of Edmonton.

That the only means of crossing the river is by ferries, which run slowly, are inconvenient and sometimes dangerous, run only in daytime, are expensive to operate and are frequently compelled to suspend crossing owing to running ice, very high water, drift wood and other special occurrences.

That the increase of settlement and trade in the district about Edmonton, especially within the last six months, has been such as to render the ferry service quite inadequate to transact the business of the district, besides occasioning serious danger to life and property during the breaking up of the ice in the spring and the freezing of the river in the autumn, and delaying mails, passengers and freight, both going and coming, for an interval of from five to twelve days at each of the seasons mentioned.

That in order to prevent the present development of the trade and settlement of the district from being retarded by these disadvantages a traffic bridge across the Saskatchewan is a necessity.

That the construction of such a bridge would be of the greatest value to residents upon both sides of the river, enabling those on the North Side to reach the railway station, and those on the South Side to reach the town of Edmonton, which is the centre of business and authority for the district.

That your petitioners have already, from time to time, during several years past, brought this matter to the notice of your department, and the facts and circumstances set forth above having been verified, a survey of the river has been made under your direction for the purpose of fixing upon the most suitable site for a bridge.

That to the vicinity of Edmonton the bulk of the immigration to the Northwest Territories is now directed, and will continue to be directed for a long time to come, and your petitioners are therefore convinced that the lack of a bridge during the coming spring, when an exceptionally large immigration is expected, will have a specially serious effect in deterring and retarding that immigration.

YOUR PETITIONERS THEREFORE PRAY that you may cause a traffic bridge to be constructed across the Saskatchewan River at the town of Edmonton, to be commenced at once and carried to completion at the earliest possible date.

WHAT DOES THE GOVERNMENT PAY THE CALGARY & EDMONTON RAILWAY $80,000 PER AN- NUM FOR?

MR. EDITOR,—

Can you kindly explain the above conundrum?

It is surely not for the convenience of our mail service, as inaugurated to-day, namely, train arrives on Monday evening at seven, and leaves next morning at eight, and arrives again on Thursday night, and leaves next morning at same hour. Meaning practically, only one mail to go south per week, as it is utterly impossible for any one to receive their mail, and answer it again before the train goes out.

The people of Northern Alberta made no kick (as they had every reason to) when the government foolishly, and we hope blindly, without thought to statesmanship, gave the Canadian Pacific railway every acre of land set aside for railway construction for the whole of Northern Alberta, without the latter getting any benefit whatever from the extraordinary gift—no railway, or guarantee of any, except as suited the convenience of the C. P. R. syndicate.

The least Northern Alberta expects is that that the mail service, paid so many thousand dollars for, will be of some convenience, and, under present circumstances, we might just as well have the stage coach, which gave us one mail south, and at very little cost, in comparison.

We beg to call the attention of the postmaster-general, and also the minister of the interior, to this wretched state of affairs in

NORTHERN ALBERTA.

November 7th, 1892.

Calgary Tribune despatch, New York, November 8: Grover Cleveland was elected president by one of the largest majorities ever received by a candidate for that office. He carried New York by from 25,000 to 30,000 of a majority, and Illinois by from 5,000 to 10,000. Except West Virginia, which is in doubt, Cleveland claims every doubtful northern state, namely, New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana, Harrison's own state. Besides New York state, out of the 444 votes of the electoral college, Cleveland has 247 now, with the prospect of more, Harrison 134, and Weaver, the People's Party candidate, 25. Weaver is thought to have carried Kansas, Nebraska, Nevada, South Dakota and Oregon. The returns from the congressional districts are incomplete, but the Democrats undoubtedly have the house of representatives, though by a greatly reduced majority. The election passed off with none of the serious disturbances which had been anticipated.

ELECTRIC LIGHT COMPANY.

The first annual meeting of the Edmonton Electric Light and Power Co. was held on Wednesday evening, November 9th, in the sample room of the Jasper House, the president, J. A. McDougall in the chair. Jas. McDonald was elected secretary of the meeting. About twenty shareholders were present. The report of directors was read as follows:

EDMONTON, November 8, 1892.

GENTLEMEN,

Your board has much pleasure in congratulating you on the result of the first year's work of the company. Since we started the machinery, on the 22nd December last, not a moment has been lost in supplying our customers through any fault of the plant itself. For only one night was the town without a light and that was wholly unavoidable, being caused by the formation of scale in the injector. The light is admitted by all outsiders, who have seen it, the equal of anything west of Lake Superior. Our contract with the Royal Company called for the installation of 300 lights, and since that time we have increased the plant in all directions by lengthening the pole line and providing transformer capacity for an additional 400 lamps. At present we have nearly 700 lamps installed at an average rental of 57 cents. We are considering the advisability of raising the price so that the minimum charge will be 60 cents. Although we have changed the site of the station to the river bank, much difficulty has been experienced in getting a supply of water. We have spent a good deal of money, some $325, in getting water, and will have to spend more; but as we now know how to get it we hope that problem is solved; Mr. Jennings having guaranteed an ample supply for $200.

Your board has concluded that the capital stock of the company is too small and you will be asked to-night to vote an increase. It has been suggested that we should take up the question of supplying the town with water, utilizing the boilers of the electric light plant to furnish the necessary steam. This is quite practicable and would return a handsome profit on the investment; but in order to carry it out an amendment to our charter will be necessary—this you will be asked to discuss to-night.

As experience is gained we should be able to affect further economy in running expenses, more especially in fuel. This can be done by using a poorer quality of coal, or as it is called "screenings" which we will experiment with when the second man is appointed to the station.

As the plant is now running full load an increase in capacity will, no doubt, be necessary next year, and your board thinks provision should be made for any probable outlay in that line considering increase of capital. You will be asked to-night to provide means whereby the board can make temporary loans to meet the Company's obligations, as at present the directors have to pledge their personal credit to borrow any money. The interest account adds so much to running expenses that your board has decided that all capital must be paid up, thus giving you as dividend what we pay as interest. We have paid in interest since we started the large sum of $434, nearly 20 per cent, of our revenue. The plant and building are insured, but at a very high rate the premium being $136.

Everything considered the result of the first year's operations is highly satisfactory. One on the outside cannot appreciate the amount of work that has been expended in bringing the system up to its present state of efficiency. The success of the company is assured and there is no doubt but that it will pay good dividends.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN A. McDOUGALL,
President.

ALEX. TAYLOR,
Managing Director.

The retiring board of directors were re-elected without a ballot. They are: J. A. McDougall, president, Alex. Taylor managing director, J. C. C. Bremner, D. R. Fraser, John Kelly, Geo. Kirkpatrick and A. D. Osborne directors. The meeting recommended an increase of the stock from $10,000 to $30,000, and also requested the directors to prepare a scheme for supplying water to the town.
